

DENISE GENTILINI PROFESSIONAL BIOGRAPHY

Denise Gentilini is an Emmy Award winning composer who, combining her producing and performing talents has taken the entertainment industry to a whole new level. Denise started her dynamic and proven professional career almost 30 years ago in Los Angeles working with premier music talent before relocating to Denver in 2001.

Denise is not only a renowned and highly respected Hollywood and Denver entertainment industry professional, but is also an extraordinary humanitarian whose love and compassion for everyone has led her to become “the voice for the voiceless” in creating genocide awareness and helping to foster major social change on every level. Denise generously donates much of her time and talent towards the many humanitarian causes she supports here in Colorado and has a true driving passion for helping those in need.

Denise is of Armenian descent. Her grandparents survived the Armenian Genocide of 1915, which prompted her involvement in serving as a board member for two of Colorado’s most amazing charitable organizations, the Armenians of Colorado and the Colorado Coalition for Genocide Awareness and Action (CCGAA). Both of these incredible organizations have been responsible for making major social change happen on a local, national and international level.

Denise is the creator of “We Are Voices”, a dynamic Denver music concert event whose mission is to promote increased genocide awareness and to help people see the importance of getting involved to end genocide globally once and for all. This event promises to be the concert highlight of the year. Two CD’s are due to be released prior to the concert event: “We Are Voices” featuring Denise’s original music and Denver’s top music talent, and “Remember Us” which will include Denise’s Emmy Award winning music, Voices of Souls, from her documentary, The Handjian Story. This life changing concert event is sure to become the one Colorado event that people will love, talk about and support year after year by making a positive difference in the community.

Denise has a passion and rare gift for motivating and inspiring musicians and entertainers alike to see the very best in themselves and those around them. Denise’s influence has positively transformed people’s lives and careers creating industry leading music professionals who can accomplish anything while wowing audiences everywhere and helping them to live their individual creative genius from their true heart and soul in order to make the world a better place for us all.
